HEALTH IN THE CANAL ZONE.

HEALTH IN THE CANAL ZONE.

The high wages paid make it a mighty temptation to our young artisans to join in the force of skilled workmen needed to construct the Panama Canal. Many are restrained, however, by the fear of fevers and malaria. It is the knowing ones—those who have used Electric Bitters, who go there without this fear, well knowing they are safe from malarious Influences with Electric Bitters on hand. Cures blood poison too, billiousness, weakness and all stomach, liver and kidney troubles, Guaranteed by Z. C. M. I. Drug Store, 112-114 So. Main Street, druggists, 50c.

TWO MARSH BOYS SHOOT DON MORGAN

Tragedy at Cokeville Results in Killing of One of the Murderers.

THE OTHER ONE IS IN JAIL

Story of Downward Career of Two Utan Lads, Who Drifted From Peth of Right.

The men who shot young Don Morgan at Cokeville, Wyoming, were not named Bates, as believed at that time, but one of them had gone by that name the most of I is life, and the mistake was one easily made. The real name of the boys is Marsh, William and Herbert. The first named is dead, having been shot to death by an enraged ranch man soon after the Marshes had shot Morgan, and Herbert is in jail at Evanston, awaiting trial on a charge of attempting murder and highway rob-

William Marsh was 25 years of age, and was born in Salt Lake City. His prother, two years younger, was born a Sanpete county. The mother of the brother, two years younger, was conin Sanpete county. The mother of the boys separated from their father soon after the birth of Herbert. She remarried, and in 1889 died at the old Deserct hospital. The father of the boys did not enjoy a good reputation, and although the sons seemed to start out well in life, they drifted into bad company and began to go the downand way.

HAD GOOD HOME

William Marsh was raised in one of the southern counties of this state, while Herbert lived for some years in the family of his mother's sister. Mrs. Samuel Bates, of 555 West South Temple street, this city. He had a good home and was well thought of by his foster parents. When 17 or 18 years of age he joined the United States navy, but subsequently deserted, as did his brother William, who had enlisted in the Twenty-ninth infantry.

DRINK BAD WHISKY

The boys had if this time become shiftless and worthless. They drifted to Cokeville, drank bad whisky, and then came the shooting of Don Morgan, followed by the death of William Marsh an hour or two later. J. S. Branson was the ranchman whose horses the pair tried to steal. He shot the cider brother dead and captured the younger one. The latter barely escaped lynching at Cokeville, and was taken to Evanston for safe keeping. taken to Evanston for safe keeping

TROUBLE FOR FRAZIER.

City Food Inspector Threatened With All Kinds of Dire Punishments.

A letter threatening all sorts of terrible punishments has been received by Walter Frazier, city food inspector The letter is unsigned and reads:

The letter is unsigned and reads:
Ogden, Sept. 15.

Walter J. Frazier, City Food Inspector, Salt Lake City.
Dear Sir: I notice by Sunday's Issue of The Tribune that you are trying your best to injure the McWhirter boys by having them arrested on some frivolous charge; trying, I suppose, to make yourself a very large gentlemen with some of the McWhirter boys' enemies. I wish to notify you, sir, that a covering of tar and feathers would be far too mild a dose for you or any one else who would try to injure a couple of men like the McWhirters. They have certainly been punished enough, and for a person such as you are to try and raise your standing in the estimation of a few dirty toughs who robbed and stole $10,000 from the boys, you are certainly making yourself very small in the estimation of the public at large by trying to make capital for yourself or a party by such dirty, contemptible methods. Yours respectfully.

A READER OF THE TRIBUNE AND A VOTER IN SALT LAKE.

P. S.—I also voted the American licket two years ago.
